

The first image shows the home screen of a Tic Tac Toe game with two options: "Multiplayer" in blue and "Play vs Computer" in red. The title "Tic Tac Toe" is displayed prominently in the center.

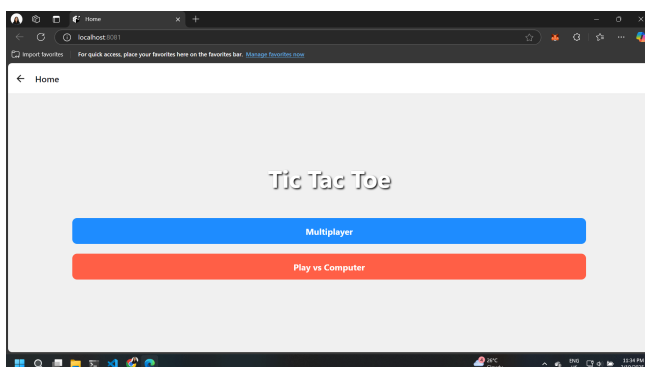

The next image displays the main gameplay screen. The current player is marked as Player X at the top. The game board is a 3x3 grid with a few moves already made, including an O and an X. A "Restart Game" button is available below the board.

The third image shows further progress in the game, with more moves placed on the board. The current player has switched to Player O, and the gameplay is ongoing.

Following that, the screen displays a "Game Over" message with "X Wins!," indicating Player X's victory. A "Play Again" button is available to start a new round.

The final image is the home screen again, offering the same options to choose between "Multiplayer" and "Play vs Computer."
